TESTIMONIAL

Mr. Nicholas Ong (Admin No 210744W) is a student of the School of Information Technology(SIT), Nanyang Polytechnic since April 2021. He is currently in his third year in the Diploma in Information Technology and is expected to complete his studies in March 2024. He consistently upheld a commendable GPA over the course of three years, currently standing at 3.69, including five Distinctions and thirteen A grades.

Nicholas is presently participating in a year-long internship facilitated by the DBS Tech Apprenticeship Programme at DBS. Within this role, he is tasked with providing production support for a key banking credit architecture application, as well as constructing dashboards aimed at monitoring applications to mitigate potential risks. Additionally, he leverages automation to decrease the workload associated with production support tasks.

Nicholas is committed to enhancing his skills to meet the evolving technical requirements of the IT industry effectively. He challenges himself by engaging in events like the Code Overflow Hackathon and pursuing certifications such as the Alibaba Cloud Computing Associate to further his expertise.

Nicholas exhibits strong potential for leadership roles. During his time in NYP, he actively engaged in leadership development programs such as Leadership 101: Outward Bound Singapore and the NYP Student Leaders' Summit. Through these experiences, he demonstrated his leadership abilities by serving as a Student Organizer for the NYP Open House event in 2023 and holding the position of Head of Logistics for the Makers Innovators' Tribe. Nicholas excels both as a leader and a team player, as evidenced by his voluntary contributions to events like the Freshmen Orientation 2022 and Donations from the Heart 2022.

Nicholas is also a recipient of NYP Student Talent & Achievement Recognition (STAR) Award. With Nicholas's evident potential, he stands poised to achieve even greater accomplishments when faced with more demanding opportunities. We extend our sincerest best wishes for his success in all his future endeavors.
